A Message From The President:

I have been heartened by many recent lung cancer research advances, but it takes a long time for research breakthroughs to translate into treatments. Waiting for these translations makes this field difficult because the patients of today don't have the luxury of time. We know, though, that the only way to improve treatments for the patients of tomorrow is through investment in today's research.

While 2008 saw many promises in federal lung cancer research funding, it was not enough to turn the tide against years of funding neglect for lung cancer research. This is where National Lung Cancer Partnership steps in. We are committed to funding lung cancer research and driving research forward. With increased resources, lung cancer researchers can do more and make the wait for new treatments a little shorter.

We are also working to raise awareness of the disease in order to bring it to the forefront of the public's conscience. In 2008, the Partnership held its sixth annual meeting, sponsored twelve Free to Breathe[®] events around the country, hosted a two-day advocacy summit, launched a public service campaign, and welcomed North Carolina as our first state chapter!

With your dedication and passion, we have made significant strides in increasing the funding available for lung cancer research and raising awareness and educating the public about this disease. We hope you will continue to support us as we persevere in the fight against lung cancer.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Joan Schiller".

Joan Schiller, MD
President, National Lung Cancer Partnership

The National Lung Cancer Partnership is a group of leading doctors, researchers, patient advocates, and lung cancer survivors who are working together to improve treatments for lung cancer patients. We are dedicated to raising public awareness of the disease and generating funding for lung cancer research.

Our mission is to decrease deaths due to lung cancer, and help patients live longer and better, through research, awareness, and advocacy.

Our goals are to:

- Raise awareness of the deadly impact of lung cancer upon both women and men
- Increase funding for lung cancer research
- Support and promote research into sex differences in lung cancer
- Encourage professionals to enter into and be successful in lung cancer research, treatment and care
- Educate and empower patients to actively participate in their treatment and care

RESEARCH

Research Grant Program:

Funding cutting-edge lung cancer research is essential to ultimately help patients live longer and better lives. In 2008, National Lung Cancer Partnership awarded $300,000 for lung cancer research directly, and awarded an additional $100,000 in partnership with other organizations.

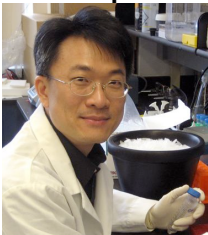

National Lung Cancer Partnership directly supported two lung cancer research programs:

- Career Development Award for junior clinical and basic investigators involved in lung cancer etiology, prevention, and treatment. The National Lung Cancer Partnership sponsored this program to create a critical mass of lung cancer researchers to ensure effective translation of basic and behavioral research discoveries into patient therapies to reduce lung cancer incidence, morbidity and mortality.
- Research Grants (co-funded with LUNGevity Foundation) for the promotion of understanding the molecular, cellular, and environmental underpinnings of lung cancer, as well as differences in response to treatment, with a special emphasis on understanding sex differences in the disease. This award is designed to provide seed money for promising novel research in lung cancer for faculty members at any point in their careers.

We were pleased to partner with the Lance Armstrong Foundation, Oncology Nursing Society Foundation (ONS), and the International Association for the Study of Lung Cancer (IASLC) to fund more promising lung cancer research that will ultimately fulfill our mission of decreasing deaths due to lung cancer, and helping patients live longer and better lives.

National Lung Cancer Partnership Annual Meeting:

The Partnership's sixth Annual Meeting, Lung Cancer 2008: Progress and Promise, was held in Chicago, IL on May 30, 2008.

The Partnership was privileged to have Dr. John Niederhuber, Director of the National Cancer Institute (NCI), as the keynote speaker. He described the varied lung cancer research projects supported by the NCI.

The speaker lineup was filled with internationally renowned lung cancer scientists:

- Kathy S. Albain, MD
- Gerold Bepler, MD, PhD
- David Carbone, MD, PhD
- James Jett, MD
- John D. Minna, MD
- Anil Potti, MD
- Jonathan M. Samet, MD, MS
- Joan H. Schiller, MD
- Frances Shepherd, FRCPC, MD

Topics discussed included:

- Radon and lung cancer
- Cancer stem cells as treatment targets
- Future of personalized therapy for lung cancer
- Sex differences in the disease

A summary of a portion of the meeting was published in the May 2009 edition of Journal of Thoracic Oncology and the rest of the meeting was summarized in the Fall 2008 edition of the Partnership's newsletter, Lung Cancer Voice.

AWARENESS

National Lung Cancer Partnership Chapter Program:

The National Lung Cancer Partnership welcomed North Carolina as its first state chapter in June 2008. The goal of the chapter program is to provide a framework for advocates around the country to help fight lung cancer locally by raising awareness, increasing funding for lung cancer research, and reducing the stigma surrounding the disease. All chapters will host lung cancer awareness, fundraising, and education events in their communities and will carry the messages of the Partnership throughout the nation.

Free to Breathe® Lung Cancer 5K:

The National Lung Cancer Partnership's goals include raising research dollars and awareness for lung cancer. The Free to Breathe® program accomplishes both of these goals by joining the general public and those who want to participate in a charitable event with lung cancer survivors and advocates.

In 2008, the Free to Breathe® series grew to 11 locations and included a National Walk. Free to Breathe® became recognized as the largest branded national lung cancer event series. Almost 6,000 people registered for the events and the program netted over $400,000!

2008 event locations and dates included:

Athens, GA – April 13

Los Angeles, CA – August 3

Glastonbury, CT – September 21

Madison, WI – September 27

Kansas City, MO – September 28

Providence, RI – October 11

Tacoma, WA – October 18

National Walk – November 1

Dayton, OH – November 1

Philadelphia, PA – November 2

Raleigh, NC – November 8

Greensboro, NC – November 15

Taylor Bell (center), a young survivor, and her friends participated in Free to Breathe® Raleigh

Free to Breathe® events are family-oriented

Other Events:

The National Lung Cancer Partnership's dedicated volunteers hosted events in their communities to raise awareness about lung cancer and to raise money for the Partnership's research, education and awareness programs.

The 2nd Annual Sarah Farmer Courts for a Cure Tennis Tournament was organized in memory of Sarah Farmer by her friends. The tournament was held in Plano, TX on April 25, 2008.

Tiffany Hudak organized the Satisfaction Concert. A Rolling Stones cover band played to benefit the Partnership in Athens, GA on November 27, 2008.

The Roseann's Gift cocktail hour and silent auction was organized by Kellie Safar Lerner on November 11, 2008 in New York City, NY. All proceeds from Roseann's Gift will be used to fund a research grant in memory of Kellie's mother, Roseann.

EDUCATION

Lung Cancer Advocacy Summit:

The first ever Lung Cancer Advocacy Summit, Acquiring Tools, Effecting Change, was held May 27-29, 2008 in Chicago, IL. The Summit provided training and guidance to 50 grass-roots lung cancer advocates. The topics discussed were: understanding lung cancer, how to be your own health advocate, becoming a lung cancer consumer reviewer, how to de-stigmatize the disease, raising lung cancer awareness in your community, and how to navigate the legislative process. No lung cancer organization had ever brought advocates together in this manner before.

Look Deeper Public Service Announcement (PSA) Campaign:

The National Lung Cancer Partnership launched a national print and radio PSA campaign to inform women about their risk for lung cancer.

The print PSA appeared in these publications:

- Allure August issue: Boston, MA subscribers
- City Woman Chicago June issue: Chicago, IL
- Glamour August issue: Boston, MA subscribers
- Self August issue: Boston, MA subscribers
- V Magazine for Women June issue: Richmond, VA
- Washington Woman June issue: Bethesda, MD
- Wisconsin Counties Magazine August issue: Madison, WI
- Women's Health September issue

The radio PSA was heard in the following cities:

- Atlanta, GA
- Boston, MA
- Chicago, IL
- Denver, CO
- Madison, WI
- Miami-Fort Lauderdale, FL
- Milwaukee, WI
- Minneapolis-St. Paul, MN
- Philadelphia, PA
- San Francisco, CA
- Seattle-Tacoma, WA

Displays at Meetings and Exhibits:

The National Lung Cancer Partnership attended meetings and displayed information at events.

- Society of Thoracic Surgeons (STS) January 2008 – Fort Lauderdale, FL
- American Association of Cancer Research (AACR) April 2008 – San Diego, CA
- TGL Classic April 2008 – New York, NY
- American Thoracic Society (ATS) May 2008 – Toronto, ON
- Oncology Nursing Society (ONS) May 2008 – Philadelphia, PA
- American Society of Clinical Oncology (ASCO) June 2008 – Chicago, IL
- Hike for Lung Health September 2008 – Chicago, IL
- Lung Run September 2008 – Chicago, IL
- American College of Chest Physicians (CHEST) October 2008 – Philadelphia, PA

Lung Cancer Voice – National Lung Cancer Partnership's Newsletter:

The National Lung Cancer Partnership publishes a tri-annual print newsletter and monthly e-newsletters. Article topics include: advancing lung cancer research; survivor and physician profiles; patient points of interest; and information on events.
